

Yale Football Committee Favors Return of Jones as Coach Schoolboy Sets Record in Swim

Elis May Offer Term Contract To Former Great Quarterback

Committee Members Arrange Program for Development of Bulldog Eleven; Boston College Team Likely To Be Restored to Schedule in 1922

By Ray McCarthy

If Tad Jones can arrange his business affairs so that they will not conflict with his coaching duties, he will be back at Yale next year as head coach of the football team. It is generally known among Yale men that the football committee has decided in favor of retaining the former star quarterback. It only remains for the popular mentor to give his friends a favorable answer.

Callahan, of Yale, Has Eyes on Rugby At Oxford University

TIM CALLAHAN, captain of the Yale football team for the last two years, will sail this week on the Imperator for England. Callahan is going to attend Oxford University and will make modern history his major course. He will be gone until next September.

Asked if he would go out for the varsity football team, Callahan smiled and replied that if he found time he probably would make a try for the Rugby team there. The popular Yale leader has made no plans for the future other than these, but it is quite likely that when he returns he will coach the guard candidates next fall.

Lost Only to Brown Eleven

Those weren't the only teams Yale defeated that season. In fact, the Blue lost but one contest—that to the great Brown team, which included in its lineup such stars as Pollard, Purdy and others of note. Carnegie Tech was beaten in the first game, 25 to 0, and the Pittsburghers had a capable eleven that year. Virginia was overwhelmed, 51 to 3, and the Lehigh team, which was going great guns that season, was steamrolled 19 to 0.

Virginia Poly was the next victim, by a score of 19 to 0, and then came the powerful Washington and Jefferson team, touted as one of the best in the country. The President's succumbed to the prowess of the Eli warriors by 36 to 12.

Everybody remembers what a whale of a team Colgate had that year, and how it had trimmed such heavies as Illinois, Syracuse and Brown, the team that walloped Yale. The score of the Colgate-Brown game that season was 28 to 0, and was one of the most astounding upsets of the year. Well, Yale beat that Colgate eleven in a grueling battle by 7 to 3. There seemed to be no stopping the New Haven team.

But in the next game the shock came. Brown walloped out of New Haven with a 36 to 0 victory, and everybody began to fear for the Blue when it met the Tigers and Harvard. But Jones never faltered. He brought that team around in masterly manner and made the players fight for every yard, and the result was a 10 to 0 victory over the stalwart Crimson machine by 6 to 3.

Why then, did Jones fail this year? Principally because he had been away from the game for so long. He wasn't quite sure of himself, as he was in 1919. Moreover, as Jones told Yale men at a dinner one evening, and as everybody knows, he was greatly handicapped by injuries. He said that no Yale team he ever remembered had suffered so much from injuries.

When the season ended Jones said that if he is retained he would be back in the spring. It means that he will go to New Haven with the firm resolution of putting more energy into his coaching work than in anything else he has ever done before.

Every Yale man who knows the present situation wants Jones back, and it will not be at all surprising to see him tendered a term contract. In which case you can rest assured Yale will have a system as good as Harvard's or Princeton's or any other.

Many, including Yale's supporters, have criticized the schedule arranged for the Blue next fall. We have always maintained schedule making was a matter that concerned a university alone, but that large universities should schedule harder teams than the smaller colleges.

New System Installed

However, Yale can offer the excuse that the schedule was made up for the development of the team. There is something in this. For instance, Boston College was not dropped because it didn't play any harder than the Army, and the cadets will meet Yale on October 22 next.

But the point is that the Army is coached by Charlie Daly, a product of Harvard, who uses the method of Boston College's system is more like Dartmouth's, Boston College is dropped from the Yale team and its future development, and according to Yale men, it is likely that the Bay Staters will be reinstated to the schedule in 1922.

Johnston Decides To Return to U. S. After Cup Matches

Through a cablegram received yesterday from Samuel Hardy, captain of the United States Davis Cup team, now in New Zealand, it became known that William M. Johnston, of California, the No. 2 man on the team, will start back to this country immediately after the completion of the international cup matches, instead of waiting over with the rest of the team to play through the series of tournaments in Australia.

Johnston will sail for this country on January 6, while William T. Tilden 24, Watson M. Washburn and Hardy will not leave Australia until a month later. The decision of Johnston to cut short the tour was not unexpected, since the former national champion, before leaving this country, declared he was anxious to get back as early as possible because of business duties in San Francisco.

The matches for the Davis cup are scheduled to begin a week from Tuesday at Auckland, and following these the American team will sail for Australia, where it will engage in matches against various native teams in Melbourne, Adelaide and Sydney, beginning on January 13 and ending on January 29.

Stuyvesant's Victory and Defeat of T. H. H. Causes Triple Tie for First Place

Herb Belin, the star of the Manual Training High School swimming team, broke all previous scholastic records for the 100-yard swim yesterday afternoon at the seventh of the P. S. A. L. dual swims, which are conducted weekly at the Columbia University pool. Belin covered the distance in the sensational time of 59 1/5 seconds, clipping exactly three seconds off the previous mark of 1 minute, 27 1/5 seconds, established by Ted Cann on March 12, 1915.

In creating his record Belin scored his seventh consecutive victory of the tournament in the century, but despite this performance and his wonderful race in the fourth leg of the relay, Manual suffered another defeat, losing to Stuyvesant by a score of 39 to 14, incidentally placing the Second Avenue boys in a tie for first place.

The Townsend Harris Hall swimmers suffered their first setback of the season, and went into a triple tie for first honors, when the strong team of Erasmus, Manual Training and Stuyvesant, by a score of 30 1/2 to 22 1/2, Erasmus and Townsend were tied with 22 1/2 points when the Brooklyn boys won the meet by a brilliant victory in the relay, which accounted for eight points.

Girls Help Decide Status of Football Team Using 'Ringer'

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—Seventy students, including both boys and girls, at Hyde Park High School compose an investigating committee which will be asked to determine status of members of the school's 1920 football eleven who played a "ringer" in a game at Lansing, Mich., December 4, and tied Lansing High, 7 to 7, according to the plan of H. B. Loomis, principal at the Hyde Park school, announced today.

One pupil is to be chosen from each of the seventy rooms in the school. Members of the committee must possess "a clean mind and a brave heart," Principal Loomis said.

Roy (Woody) Simons, former Hyde Park fullback, who was graduated last June and was an outstanding player on the University of Chicago freshman eleven this year, is said to have replaced the regular Hyde Park fullback soon after the game started. Coach Al E. Pressler has been dismissed and members of the eleven have been suspended from sports at the school.

Reduced, as it will be in many places, there soon will be in America from 100,000 to 5,000,000 active players of a game with an appeal that strikes at all ages between fifteen and seventy-five, and that extends its lure to the only two sexes that amount to anything upon this new world explored globe.

Four New York Boys Get Letters at Brown

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 18.—Four New York boys—G. C. Johnson, 22; W. Hoving, 21; E. F. Schmitts, 24; and D. Walper, 24—are among the nineteen who were awarded varsity "Bs" in football at Brown University.

Hoving, a veteran, weighing 105 pounds, played Brown's rising center and distinguished himself by flawless passing. Johnson, another veteran, at 185 pounds, the second heaviest man on the team, played an exceptional game at tackle on both offense and defense. His absence, through injuries, at the Dartmouth game was greatly felt by the team. Schmitts proved an exceptionally promising tackle, fast and aggressive, although not weighing more than 170 pounds. Walper, a halfback, proved one of the finds of the season. He was a very good broken field runner and strong tackler.

Hiser Wins Harrier Title

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18.—Andrew Hiser Jr. of the Meadowbrook Club, won the middle Atlantic senior cross-country championship over a five and a half-mile course here to-day. His time of 40 minutes flat was a new record for the course. The Meadowbrook Club won the run with a score of 15 points.
